

Hi Wayne:

Thanks for this great web-site. I am an individual who has an open mind and believes in the Law of Attraction. I have listened to "The Secret" DVD and I have started to apply many of its concepts to our family's lives.

My husband is an alcoholic. He has gone to AA and did quit for 5 years. He just recently started and only drinks beers now...he thinks that is not heavy stuff. I pray for him morning and evening for some help from the infinite source and have begun affirming in my prayers that "My husband will stop drinking and smoking".....and I will continue to repeat this up to five or six times. I am currently trying to find a location of "Alanon".....he refuses to go back to AA because he thinks that he is not an alcoholic.

Thanks for your response,
Regards,
The Runner

Hello The Runner,

Thank you for the question.

The first thing that we all must understand is that we are not able to affect someone else's energy. There is no way that I can place out there the statement that I want this person to do this or that. This is a major mistake that so many make.

We can only create from our own energy what we desire for our own greatness. There is no way to influence another person by throwing your positive energy at them. The only thing that will work is if you speak and act from your own experience and put it out there for others to see. And maybe, just maybe they may take a piece of your information to use in their life.

It may help to keep in mind that no matter how misguided the choices of another, we are all – every single one of us – just doing what we need to do to help us feel more connected.

This is exactly what we do with this magazine, we never attempt to preach or teach or influence others. We always try to show by our example how our life has moved forward for us. If someone reading an article takes some information unto them and makes use of it, great, our intended result has been accomplished. The exchange of positive, feel good information is what works for us.

Hope this helps...

Peace and Love
Wayne