

Today, be the person of your dreams.
See life through THEIR eyes.
Make decisions with THEIR mind.

Let every thought, word, and action come from THEIR perspective, as if you had already arrived, and just watch how 2009 warps into the kind of year you talk and laugh about forever and ever and ever...

note from the editor:

Boy is my face RED blush

Yesterday I made such a rookie mistake. I've certainly been working and playing (plorking?) online long enough to know that there is a path you've gotta follow in order to get where you're going on the Internet.

You know, like you have to JOIN a community before you can participate within the community. So imagine my surprise when I receive a note requesting a book list and find myself unable to post it where directed.

A simple enough task and certainly one I have done many times.

It was really more than a bit ironic. You see, the request asked for recommendations of the 3-10 books that have had the biggest impact on my life and then the 3-10 books that have had the biggest impact on my network marketing business.. along with a line or two about what made it valuable to me.

So I spent a considerable amount of time and thought listing these 20 profound (to me) books. Eager to make a valuable contribution and holding a pretty high vibration due to all the renewed appreciating I was feeling for these particular books. So I go to paste my list and...

Nothing. I mean N-O-T-H-I-N-G shows up.

Try it again a time or two with the same result. Meaning... no result at all.

So off I go to ask a question of the requester... does he need to approve the post before it will appear? (It was more to the tune of..."hey, I'm having trouble here buddy... what's the deal?!?"")

After clicking around a bit... (I am nothing if not tenacious about these things. ;-)) I realized.... whoops, the place I was supposed to post was a G-R-O-U-P site over at Facebook... and I wasn't even a member of that Group (yet).

Here's the really funny part... The Group is called The Network Marketing Revolution

So I had a real laugh out loud moment as I said to myself... "Imagine, ya gotta JOIN the Revolution before you can PARTICIPATE in the Revolution!"

The point of my sharing this here, in the Editor's note of the Winter '09 Edition of The Magic Happens is both to remind our readers of the truth of that...

You DO have to JOIN the revolution before you can PARTICIPATE in the revolution...

and also to point out that our contributor's stories are a celebration of the fact that they HAVE joined... and are willing to participate OUT LOUD by sharing their thoughts and feelings and experiences with you.

Let it be an invitation to step more fully into the revolution of YOUR life in 2009. And let our contributor's know that their contribution touches you...in whatever way it touches you.

As always we invite you to add to the magic and joy by joining us over at The Magic Happens Community Online. Let us know what you FEEL about this issue of The Magic Happens magazine.

Much love and appreciation,
Deliberately evolving,
