

Ready for New Beginnings!

By Wayne Parker

Every so often in life we have what we call a new beginning. Do you remember a birthday where you were one year older, starting school, high school or college or university. What about getting married, a new job, a new relationship, a loss of a loved one, a brand new creation and so on.

These are all new beginnings of sorts and something that most of us look forward to -- with great anticipation or from a fearful 'I am not sure' attitude. No matter how we perceive these new beginnings, it is a change that is occurring in our life. We all handle it differently sometimes with wide smiles and other times with tears.

So as I write this feature article, it is the start of a New Year and also the beginning of something sort of brand new for me. The New Year part is an easy one as we all set out goals, themes and things that we strive for throughout the coming year.

I must go into a little more detail on the second one of a new beginning. For those that have been off world since the last edition of this magazine, those without Internet service for the past three months, those still hiding under a rock and those that have just not connected, may have not heard the latest news.

Wayne is a single person...

Kat and I are no longer a couple, not together, not relationship partners, not living as common law or whatever you call it from your area. Please, no notes of sorrow or anything of the sorts. Our lives have taken on new directions and we did not line up as we once did. All is good between us in every aspect.

Now before you jump the gun, I repeat, we are good with this. Before you all ask about the communities, the blogs and the magazine or anything else we do together, this will not change at all. We are the greatest of friends, still business partners in all of our creations and we will always be energetically connected.

After the initial period of what's next for me, I chose to move forward with all that I do well and add in a few new desires. Yes I am still filled with much energy, still looking after the Powerful Intentions community as a co-founder. Yes I am still doing websites for those that are techie challenged, graphics, coaching, connecting, creating, even a new business that I am totally excited about and finally, saving the world one person at a time. LOL

I have a new business, a new beginning, doing something that I love to do, EAT CHOCOLATE and make money, lots of money. I eat healthy chocolate every day and my body loves me for it. Besides, what can be easier than giving healthy chocolate to others and letting them call you asking where they can get the chocolate for themselves and make their own money. This is so cool. A new beginning that feels, tastes and is right for me. Please connect with me to find out more about eating healthy chocolate.

Websites are going along just great. A brand new author here in Canada contacted me about doing a site for her book called Simply Going Green, in 3 Years or Less. This is a real amazing book by the way. For those wishing to do their part for the planet and themselves, this book just vibrates beautifully. Please everyone reading, take your own new beginning and get a copy of this book, it will change the way you do things.

Another site called Stuff 4 Families, from a beautiful couple raising 5 children. They have written several books, Raising Well Behaved Kids, The Instead Cookbook, How to be a Great Kid and Simple Lunches for Busy Families. This couple is very sincere in all they do and their only desire is to pass along their own life experiences to others. For those with families, these books are a must read.

Powerful Intentions, is flourishing wonderfully. There are so many great people and forums to connect with on a variety of topics. The number of people becoming members each day is astonishing. Each day is a new beginning.

Finally, this magazine; The Magic Happens continues to come out with some of the most amazing articles from people just like you reading here. It is still very close to my heart and something that I call a labor of love. Everyone involved in the creative side of this magazine has decided that as early as the spring edition, The Magic Happens will become a paid subscription Magazine. So you see, another new beginning which again feels good to me.

Reading the above is like WOW, so many new beginnings in my life. I have decided not to take that trip off world, unless I delve into my Shaman side, not to go hide under the rocks, or even just sit around and play games on the computer.

Wayne is ready for all the new beginnings this year, Wayne is excited for all the adventures ahead. Look out Universe, here I come.

If you feel like writing to me, please let me know about the new stuff happening and I will try to get it into the next edition of the magazine somewhere. Please no advertising stuff unless you are paying for that. LOL

To everyone's newest beginnings, let the adventures rock and roll.

Peace and Love
