

LIFE – It's an EXPERIMENT!

Welcome to The Magic Happens... and my little corner of the world! I'd love to have you stay and play... there are a LOT of raw materials to mess around with so let's see what we can create! ;-)

It seems only fair that we share a bit about one another. After all, if we're going to take a journey together (and guess what, since you're reading this right now we are in this game together!) ...it might help us to get to know one another a bit. Okay, I'll start; Two score and fourteen years ago my father and mother brought forth onto this continent a new BEING...

And man... was THAT a SURPRISE!!! Holy schmoly... talk about constriction, talk about contrast... I'm willing to bet that you've forgotten all about that moment where one minute you're horsing around in line on the other side of the veil, waiting for your turn to swoop into a 'bubble of biology' and take another shot at being a brilliant leading edge creator on this gameboard we call Planet Earth, and BAM! Everything gets closed in and h e a v y!

Oh, you can hear your buddies on the 'other side' hootin' and hollerin' with delight for you and the adventure you're about to begin. Me? I just felt tired and confused... so I slept. My Mom claims I slept for the first eighteen months of life here; people started calling her a liar insisting she had a baby girl somewhere in that house. I have little doubt that she was telling the truth because today I still love to sleep... where I'm quite aware I'm simply off playing in other worlds...and I also love being awake to this one!

The most valuable thing to remember though is not to let that physical 'heaviness' confuse you and cause you to forget about this great experiment we're engaged in. This world can fool you and lead you to believe there are a lot of 'rules' to be followed, which implies there is a 'right' and a 'wrong' way to BE and DO. I will remind you, as I was so brilliantly reminded by the simple, yet profoundly liberating words of Abraham-Hicks –

"You can't get it done and you can't get it wrong"

So putting those notions of 'endedness' to rest and recognizing that we are all in this for the sheer ever-expanding joy of it... it's my intention to share my experiments out loud...with you... and it's also my intention to have you share yours back! So follow your inspiration to write or call me (knowing that there is a high likelihood I'll share that here too! ;-))

Even more, it's my intention that we play a game of 'double-dog dare' and challenge one another to go ahead and add liquid A to liquid Z... just to see what happens and how we FEEL about it... with a willingness to roll on the floor with gales of laughter even when it appears we just 'blew up our world'!

The thing is, I've blown up my world several times... and eventually the focus shifts and always, love survives. I've discovered that you can't always accurately predict the results of the experiment and from that I've come to realize that the joy doesn't lie in the prediction being spot on...the joy is in approaching life with the awareness that I really don't know... and I'm willing to find out! Something that has only recently been pointed out to me is not only the fact that I am the contrast (*for some people *tee hee) as well as the beauty... but that I might want to embrace and celebrate that. After a brief confrontation with resistance around the notion 'I am the contrast' I'm not only seeing the value of that, I'm experiencing the EXPANSION that awareness brings!!! (hint: being the contrast comes naturally to all of us, quit resisting it and, as Abraham says, 'lift the oars out of the water about that and start flowing downstream'!)

To bring you up to speed, without lengthy anecdotal material, I want to share my over the top appreciation that my experiment to date has netted me the most amazing relationships with so many brilliant, awesome people on this planet and attracting that wealth into my life certainly provides evidence that an experimental approach to life reaps HUGE rewards.

In addition to my beautiful friends Kat, Wayne, Jackie and everyone contributing to this project I want to introduce you to some of the people you are likely to hear about from me – starting with the three magnificent young men I gave birth to, who have done an amazing job of zigging to my zag all of their lives...

Levi, Matt and Luke

The beautiful 'daughters' that have come into my life (YES! I am the luckiest 'mom' in the world! ;-)) Malia and Laura

This gorgeous young woman is my oldest granddaughter Shelby

GRANDson Duncan (notice the T-shirt, "It seemed like a good idea at the time" Now there's a born 'experimenter'!)

And the wee one year old Ms. Irene the Queen

I hope you'll 'tune in' to the deliberate creation of my life as the magazine rolls on... more importantly, I hope as a result you TUNE IN to YOURS!

Love,
Mary K
